

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

In this study, the writer wanted to find out the character development of Jane Eyre through her external conflicts. Before the writer did the research, the writer had assumption that Jane's characteristic would develop after she faced several conflicts appeared during fighting for her love. So in this study firstly the writer tried to find the Jane's characteristics through her external conflicts. The next step the writer found Jane external conflict. The last step, the writer concluded the character development of Jane through her external conflict

From the analysis it could be found that the character development of the main character has changed after she had marry. In the first stage, the character of Jane Eyre was describe as weak and obedient little girl, and at the end the has changed, Jane Eyre changed become strong and brave woman.