

Abstract

This study aims to determine, how the form and manner of self control over financial expenditure single employee in managing personal finances, and what are the reasons put forward single employee to control oneself at its financial expenditure in managing personal finance. The analysis technique used is by using descriptive analysis . The data obtained through questionnaire. Results of the study showed that single employee perform various attempts to control finances, regularly set aside income for savings, and allocating finance for investments and savings as a form of self control over financial expenditure single employee in managing personal finances. Besides reasons adduced single employee to do self-control over its financial expenditure is not so wasteful and not burdening the cost of daily, for cost and savings the future, and the other reason is to be able to regulate its financial. As a way of self-control over financial expenditure single employee in managing his personal finances which that is by making budget expenditure not written, and set aside its income for savings or for investment in the hope of profit in the future.

Keyword : self-control over financial expenditure, personal financial management.

